eJoy – Inline translation

The image shows a composite screenshot of the eJoy application. On the left, the 'FULL SETTINGS' menu is open, with a red box around the 'Translator' option and an arrow pointing to the 'Inline translations' sub-option. The main interface on the right shows the 'Inline translations' settings, with a red box around the 'Inline translations' toggle switch and an arrow pointing to it. Below this, there are options for 'AI inline translation' (disabled), 'Display color' (with a color picker), and 'Input color' (set to #109e36). A yellow box at the bottom right contains the text: 'In line translator for seamless web text translation' and 'ALT + Mouse highlight or word click on word/ sentence'. The bottom of the screenshot shows a QR code for 'eJOY App 2' and a URL: 'chrome-extension://amfghidiedpdnibhnhokbnohfdib.../pages/options/index.html#'

Where to Use

eJoy – Inline translation

Requested by Students

- Use Inline translation everywhere except when using Google Translate (web images with titles/ descriptions and Text)
- not text images or some documents)

After-class posting on WhatsApp

- Google Translate 10+ words (with an inline translation screenshot)
- Add an Inline translation screenshot(s)

Benefit

- Seamless and dynamic teaching, keep the class momentum running smoothly (without the need to copy and paste words to Google Translate)

The screenshot shows a Google search interface. The search bar contains the text "food that make you happy". Below the search bar, there are navigation tabs for "AI Mode", "All", "Images", "Short videos", "Forums", "Videos", "Shopping", and "More". To the right of the search bar are icons for "Tools", a microphone, a camera, and a search icon. The search results are titled "Foods that make you happy" and are sourced from "sources across the web". The results are displayed in a grid of 15 items, each with a small image, a text label, and an inline translation in Chinese characters followed by a red 'x' and a dropdown arrow. The items are: Dark chocolate [巧克力] x, Berry, Avocado, Spinach, Oily fish, Salmon [鮭魚] x, Egg [蛋] x, Coffee, Green tea, Leafy greens, Bananas [香蕉] x, Nuts, Oats, Yogurt [優格] x, and Walnut.
